Quarterly fund commentary

Global equity markets continued to push higher during the second quarter of 2017, capping one of the best first halves to a year since 2009. Signs of growth have started to re-emerge, while inflationary pressures remained low. Asian equity markets performed particularly well, with impressive gains having been made in both Hong Kong and Japan. In Europe and the UK, equity markets performed relatively well until comments from the Bank of England and the European Central Bank hinting at the removal of the current accommodative monetary policy spooked market participants, resulting in a sell-off at the end of the quarter. This development also affected government bonds, which began the quarter on strong footing despite earlier comments by the US Federal Reserve also highlighting the need to continue on a path of reducing monetary stimulus. Commodities continued to struggle over the quarter. Grain markets have remained overstocked after last year's record harvest in the US, while the relentless growth of US oil production provided no relief to the global energy glut. Precious metals prices retreated from their first quarter gains, while industrial metals in aggregate ended the quarter flat.

Risk Warnings

The value of investments and any income will fluctuate (this may partly be the result of exchange rate fluctuations) and investors may not get back the full amount invested. Whilst the overall risk of the fund intends to be consistent with that of a balanced portfolio of equity and debt securities, this may not be achieved. The fund will make significant use of financial derivatives for investment purposes in excess of the value of the portfolio that could lead to large fluctuations in the value of the fund. The fund uses derivatives to gain leverage which can potentially be up to three times the value of its net assets. The fund will gain exposure to commodities to diversify the risk of the fund. Commodities are generally considered to be high risk investments and may result in large fluctuations in the value of the fund. Debt instruments are exposed to credit risk which is the ability of the borrower to repay the interest and capital on the redemption date. The risks described herein are the fund specific material risks. For more information please consult the current fund and share class specific Key Investor Information Document (KIID) and for a complete set of risks the current prospectus.
